From the army hospital—the bloody battle-Beld the mansion of the rich and humble abode of the poor-from the office and the sacred desk -from the mountain top, distant valleys and far-off islands of the ocean-from every nook and corner of the civilized world-is pouring in the evidence of the astonishing effects of DRAKE'S PLANTATION BITTERS. Thousands upon thousands of letters like the following may be seen at our office:

REDSBURY, W18., Sept. 16, 1863. "* * * * I have been in the army hospitals for fourteen months—speechless and near-in seac. At Alton, Ill., they gave me a bottle of Plantation Bitters. * * Three bottles restored my speech and cured me. * * * C. H. FLAUTE."

SOUTH WARRAW, O., July 28, 1963. ** * One young man, who had been mek and not out of the house for two years with Scrofula and Erysipelas, after paying the doctors ever $150 without benefit, has been cured by ten bottles of your Bitters. * * * EDWARD WOUNALL."

The following is from the Matron of the Union Home School for the Children of Volun-HAVEMEYER MANSION, 57TH STREET, )

NEW YORK, August 2, 1863. "DR. DEAKE: Your wonderful Plantation Hitters have been given to some of our little children suffering from weakness and weak lungs with most happy effect. One little girl, in particular, with pains in the head, loss of appetite, and daily wasting consumption, on whom all medical skill had been exhausted, has been entirely restored. We commenced with but a teaspoonful of Bitters a day. Her appetite increased; strength and health follow-Di. * * * *

The Plantation Bitters make the weak strong, the languid brilliant, and are exhausted na ture's great restorer. They are composed of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Wintergreen, Sassafrae, Roots, Herbs, &c., all preserved in perfectly pure St. Croix Rum.

S.-T.-1860.-X.

Persons of sedentary habits troubled with weakness, lassitude, palpitation of the heart, lack of appetite, distress after eating, torpid liver, constipation, &c., deserve to suffer if they will not try them.

They are recommended by the highest medical authorities, and are warranted to produce az immediate beneficial effect. They are exceedingly agreeable, perfectly pure, and harmless. Notice.-Any person pretending to sell Plantation Bitters in bulk or by the gallon is a swindler and imposter. We only put it up in our log cabin bottles. Beware of bottles refilled with imitation deleterious stuff, for which several persons are already in prison. See that every bottle has our United States Stamp over the cork, and signature on steel plate side la-

FROM THE ARMY OF THE POTUMAC. The Position of the Army Unchanged-Presentation of Battle-flags to General Mende-General Meade's Speech-Congratulatory Orders.

From information received last night, it appears that the general position of the Army of the Potomac was mainly unchanged. Gen. Butord on Tuesday passed through Gulpeper, and reconnoitered the enemy position on the Rapidan. From requisitions and invoices picked up in the late rebel campe, it is arcertained that there was no scarcity of the necessaries of life in Lee's army. Rations were commuted at 75 cents a day.

From semi-official reports, it is known that the larger part of both Ewell's and Hill's corps lay en echelon nearly parallel to the Rappahannock on Saturday, the right resting below Kelly's Ford, and the left near Rixeyville, on Aesthansis river. Evidences also exist of their precipitate retreat in consequence of General Meade's masterly movements.

While it is known that no enemy in force is north of the Rapidan, guerrilla parties hang about our lines, and frequent collisions occur. On Friday night, Private Terry, attached to the headquarters of the Quartermaster's department, was fired upon near camp, and received several, but not dangerous, buckshot

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Nov. 11.— Yesterday atternoon, Col. Upton, who commanded the brigade which, last Saturday, so successfully charged and captured the enemy's works at Rappahannock Station, accompanied by deputations from each of the regiments participating in the assault, presented Gen. Meade with the eight battle-nags captured at that time.

No previous notice had been given, and the affair was purely unsuspected and unprovided Col. Upton presented the flags in the name of his command, naming the regiments—the 5th and 6th Maine, the 5th Wisconsin, and the 12ist New York, the latter Col. Upton's own. Gen. Meade responded as follows: "Colonel Upton, Officers, and Men of the Sixth Corps: I receive with great satisfaction the battle flags, evidences of the good conduct and gallantry you displayed on the 7th inst. The asault of the enemy's position a Rappahannock Station, entrenched by redoubts and rifle pits, defended by artillery and infantry, carried as it was, at the point of the bayonet, was work which could only be executed by the best of soldiers, and in the result of which you may be justly proud. "It gives me great confidence that, in future operations, I can implicitly rely on the men under my command doing, when called on, all that men can do, and, although it is my desire to place you in such positions as to avoid, if possible, recurring to such severe tests, yet there are occasions, such as the recent one. when it is the only and the best to pursue; and to feel, as I do now, that I command men able and willing to meet and overcome such obstacles is a source of great satisfaction. "I shall transmit these flags to the War Department. I have already reported your good conduct, and received and transmitted to your commanders the approval of the President. I shall prepare, as soon as I receive the required information, a general order, in which it is my desire to do justice to all the troops who have distinguished themselves; and it is my purpose, by every means in my power, to have those soldiers rewarded who have merited such distinction. Soldiers, in the name of the army and the country, I thank you for the services you have rendered, particularly for the example you have set, which I doubt not, on future occasions, will be followed and emulated. A band of music accompanied the deputation. After a few moments of congratulations and social intercourse, the deputation took leave and returned to camp.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, November 9, 1863 .- General Orders, No. 101 .-The commanding General congratulates the army upon the recent successful passage of the Rappahannock in the face of the enemy, compeling him to withdraw to his entrenchments behind the Rapidan.

To Major General Sedgwick, and the officers and men of the 5th and 6th corps participating in the attack, particularly to the storming party under Brigadier General Russell, his thanks are due for the gallantry displayed in the assault on the enemy's entrenched position of Rappahannock Station, resulting in the capture of 4 guns, 2,000 small arms, 8 battle-flags, one bridge team, and 1,600 prisoners

To Major General French, and the officers and men of the 3d corps engaged, particularly to the leading column commanded by Colenel Trolnand, his thanks are due for the bravery displayed in crossing at Kelly's Ford, and seizure of the enemy's entrenchments, and the capture of over 400 prisoners. The commanding General takes great pleasure in announcing to the army that the President has expressed satisfaction with its late doings.

By command of Major General Meade:

S. WILLIAMS, A. A. G. Supposed Privateers on the Lakes. PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 11 .- Special dispatches from Cincinnati give a singular story about two suspected vessels discovered yesterday hovering about Sandusky bay, supposed to be privateers fitted out by secessionists in Canada, aided by sympathizers there and in the States. The supposed object of the vessels is to release the prisoners on Johnson's Island and commence piracy on the lakes and pillage on land. A battery of Parrott guns was ordered forth-with to the island. It may be a scare, but there is, however, more of feasibility in such an enterprise than in the alleged conspiracy recently discovered. Possibly it is a part of that abortive plet. Massachusetts Legislature.

Boston, Nov. 11 .- In the Legislature to-day, Gov. Andrew's message was referred to special legislative committee, which met immediately after the House adjourned. A bill was introduced proposing to give all the soldiers who hereafter enlist, or re-enlist, $20 per month from the State treasury, instead of the bounties now offered.

The Charlestown (Mass. ) Navy-yard Strike. Boston, Nov. 11 .- No satisfactory arrangement has been made with the navy-yard workmen, and the strike still continues. The boiler and iron-plate workers in East Boston are still on a strike, their employers still refusing to pay the wages demanded.

JOHN M. BOTTS NOT UNDER ARREST.—The report that John M. Botts had been arrested and sent to Richmond turns out to be incorrect. He was arrested by Stuart, but released on the next day. The circumstances were as follows: Slaughter Bradford, a neighbor of Botts', had been arrested by our officers, and on our army falling back from Culpeper they were about to take him on and send him to Washington. He sent to Mr. Botts, requesting him to meet him at Brandy Station, and endeavor to procure his release. While he was at the Station the rehel cavalry following up our rear guard came up, and a young man from Culpeper, who knew Mr. Rotts, rode up to him, bearing a knapsack and musket, which he requested him to keep for him, as he could not carry them and manage his horse. On his way home with the musket and knapsack in his hands, he met a rebel soldier, who ordered him to give them the musket and knapsack in his hands, he met a rebel soldier, who ordered him to give them up. This he refused to do, and a pretty warm altercation ensued, but the soldier failed to gain his point. He then went to his officers, and had a complaint carried to Stuart, who ordered him arrested. It is said that Stuart has a personal grudge against Mr. Botts, which was probably the chief reason for the arrest.

A retreat for female intemperates is to be established in the vicinity of Boston.

GROANS OF THE ENEMY. Tribute of Respect to the Ability of Mr. Lincoln's Cabinet.

It has been much the fashion in Europe, and to some degree in this country, to underrate the ability of the Washington Administration, as compared with that at Richmond, but numerous indications show that this misconception, wilful or ignorant as the case may be, is not likely to be much longer entertained, by even the warn est admirers of the fancied demi-gods of

The Southern papers have lately abounded in depreciation of their leader, Jeff. Davis himself, and the following extracts show that the per ple of the South are arriving at the true estin ate of the mental ability of his fellow arch. conspirators in treason.

Federal and Confederate Finances Com-

[From the Richmond Examiner.] The slow depreciation of Federal currency is one of the most remarkable phenemena of this extraordinary war. Contrasting the market prices of Confederate with those of Federal money gives a low opinion of Mr. Hunter's, compared with Mr. Chase's, financial abilities. We console ourselves for the apparent disparity of financial ability between the two peoples, as communities, by reflecting that ours were wholly agricultural, quite unpracticed and unskilled in the art of finance; while, with our commercial antagonists, it had long been a subject of anxious and successful study. (Fiving little thought to the subject since hostilities began, our people-even our best legislatorsreposed in the belief that the South possessed one or two great financial statesmen, with genius fully equal to the financial emergency; and it is only recently that they have discovered their confidence has been signally mis-

The Federal Secretary of the Treasury has run up a great debt without commensurately flooding the North with a redundant currency. The consequence has been very marked; for, whereas the Federal war debt exceeds two thousand millions of dollars, and that of the Confederacy has not reached one thousand millions, yet Confederate currency is at a discount of ien or twelve for one of gold, while the Federal currency is less than two for one. Prices of all things have risen at the North in consequence of an inflated currency; but inasmuch as this inflation has been wonderfully restrained by tact, ingenuity and skill, prices have not approximated the enormous rates which are prevalent at the South. As it is lawful to learn whatever may be possible from an enemy, may we not bope that Mr. Memminger and Mr Hunter will take a few hints in the practical departments of finance from such consummate adents in this intricate business as the public enemy ! Blessings Brighten, &c.

[From the Richmond Examiner.] Especially strange does it seem that we are never aware of the wealth of the abandoned sections until they are abandoned, and then we suddenly wake up to the fact that the Yankees are foraging with ease and comfort in a country which, it was supposed, we had deserted because it could not sustain life. Who knew, for instance, of the immense resources of Loudoun county before the retreat from Manassas! Who thought that Eastern North Carolina was the Egypt of the Confederacy fore the taking of Roanoke Island!

Who estimated the millions of pounds of acon stored away between Petersburg and Suffolk before the country was virtually given up to the Yankees! Who appreciated the fertility of the Northern Neck until the Lincoln raiders commenced "running to and fro" through that rich peninsula, and "increasing their knowledge" of its wide fields of corn and mammeth stacks of wheat! Who thought of East Tennessee as other than a rugged, mountainous country, which could feed neither friend or foe? Who, even now, justly prizes the importance of the salines and lead mines of Southwestern Virginia?

Who sees the necessity of drawing in the supplies of the south side in case the Yankees should try, as they doubtless will, that last untried line to Richmond! Everybody-no, not everybody, certainly not the Commissary. General-"Cleon is Mr. Foresight-after sight," says a comic poet of antiquity; and sensible men everywhere in the Confederacy are weary of "soher, second thought, 'and disgusted with fertile afterthought on the part of those whose business it is to be acquainted not only with the resources of the country, but also with the manner in which those resources are distribnted. Why is the South not Recognized by the European Powers? [Correspondence Richmond Enquirer, 6th.] The first light, as we believe, that will break through the enveloping clouds of this tremendons revolution, will dawn where the sun emerges—across the Atlantic. It will come in the shape of a combined movement by foreign nations in favor of our necognition as an independent Power. Not the most remote star of hope, we think, glimmers above the horizon of our hemisphere to fiash a solitary ray of light across the murky expanse. The situation of the two combatants, and the overwhelming issue at stake between them, forbids that there should be any. The issue is nothing less than one of national life and death, in which defeat involves to one party bankruptcy and ruin more overwheiming than ever overtook a nation, and to the other a debasing enslavement more intolerable than the most abject serf ever endured. In such a dilemma how can the combatants ever settle a peace? It is with a settled conviction of the impracticability of any other adjustment that we say, look to the East for light. Our soldiers have done and are still doing all that can be done on the field. Victory after victory crowns our arms. Hat where is the hope of conquering a peace from a nation which, the moment it grants it upon our terms, seals it own ruin and destruction? We do not mean by this view of the case to disparage the heroism of our troops and the skill of our Generals. Far from it. It is to their noble achievements we shall have to point as evidence of our ability to maintain our independence when we ask from foreign Powers to recognize us as worthy the precious boon. The idea we would convey is simply that valor and arms have done and are doing their part in this tremendous hour, and wise states. manship and diplomacy must come to their rescue and support. It is evident the counsels of the camp have transcended in ability up to this time, the counsels of the Cabinet. The will Prime Minister of the Lincoln Government appreciates, we fear, better than our chief counsellors do, the telling influence of diplomatic strategy in this war.

foreign Powers! Does any one know? Our best hope for deliverance from this apparently interminable conflict is, as we believe, in that direction, and makes this a vital, most absorbing question. We repeat, why are we not recognized by the leading Powers of Europe ! If our representatives abroad do not know, they have been sent on their mission to but little purpose. If they do know, of course the secret has been communicated to the Sanhedrim at Richmond, and we would respectfully ask of them to out with it to the people.

Is the institution of Slavery the great stumoling-block to our independence? The enormous question, we admit, to deal with, but not beyond the cope of broad and far-sighted statesmanship. At least, it would not damage our cause or compromise our dignity to know what are the views and notions of the trans-Atlantic world as to the most reasonable and practicable plan of settling the issue, if issue it is, het ween us.

The issue between the North and the South is one to be settled only by the arbitrament of arms; let us try and settle that between the South and Europe on the forensic arena. The settlement of the latter, we believe, will make he former a foregote conclusion.
